Introduction

Creekstone Capital LLC is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) as a broker-dealer and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA). Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ, and it is important for you to understand these differences. Free and simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at Investor.gov/CRS, which also provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

Creekstone Capital LLC offers brokerage services to both retail and institutional clients. Our principal services include:

Capital Introduction Services: We introduce investors to investment opportunities, including introductions to fund managers, private issuers, and other market participants. We may recommend specific investment opportunities based on your financial situation and investment objectives.

Private Placement Services (Regulation D): We participate in the offer and sale of securities exempt from registration under Regulation D of the Securities Act, including Rule 506(b) and Rule 506(c) offerings. These offerings are available to accredited investors, including individuals who meet applicable income or net worth thresholds. When we recommend a securities transaction or investment strategy involving securities to a retail customer, we must act in that retail customer's best interest under Regulation Best Interest. For more detailed information about the terms and conditions of our private placement services, please refer to the applicable offering memorandum and subscription agreement.

Fixed-Income Trading: We execute riskless principal bond transactions on behalf of institutional counterparties.

We do not offer proprietary products. You make the ultimate decision regarding the purchase or sale of any investment. We do not provide ongoing account monitoring as a standard feature of our brokerage services. We do not impose a minimum investment amount, although individual private placement offerings may have their own minimums established by the issuer. For additional information about our services, please visit Investor.gov/CRS or contact us directly.

Conversation Starters:

- Given my financial situation, should I choose a brokerage service? Why or why not?
- How will you choose investments to recommend to me?
- What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education, and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?

What fees will I pay?

We receive transaction-based compensation, such as placement fees or commissions, in connection with private placement and capital introduction transactions. This compensation is typically paid by the issuer or from offering proceeds, and is calculated as a percentage of the transaction value. The specific fee arrangement for each transaction will be disclosed in the applicable offering memorandum and subscription agreement before you invest.

Because we are compensated on a transaction basis, we have an incentive to encourage you to engage in more transactions. The more transactions you engage in, the more fees we earn. You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying. For more detailed information about our fees, please refer to the offering documents and subscription materials for any specific investment opportunity.

Conversation Starters:

- Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

What are your legal obligations to me when providing recommendations? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we provide you with a recommendation, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the recommendations we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means:

- We receive transaction-based compensation (commissions or placement fees), which gives us an incentive to encourage you to enter into transactions.
- Third-party issuers or fund managers may compensate us differently for different products, which could incentivize us to recommend one product over another.

For more detailed information about our conflicts of interest, please contact us directly or visit brokercheck.finra.org (CRD #325715).

Conversation Starters:

- How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them?

How do your financial professionals make money?

Our financial professionals are compensated entirely on a commission basis. They earn transaction-based compensation (commissions or placement fees) from the services they provide and do not receive a salary or hourly wages from the firm. This compensation structure creates an incentive to recommend more transactions or certain products, because your financial professional is only compensated when a transaction occurs. We manage this conflict through supervisory procedures and compliance oversight designed to ensure that all recommendations are in your best interest.

Do you or your financial professionals have legal or disciplinary history?

No. Neither Creekstone Capital LLC nor its financial professionals have reportable legal or disciplinary history. Visit Investor.gov/CRS for a free and simple search tool to research our firm and our financial professionals.

Conversation Starters:

- As a financial professional, do you have any disciplinary history? For what type of conduct?
